BORED

Water Skiing—

It's hard to believe that the 2008 water ski season is already half over.

It's been an interesting year so far. Our first surprise was that Troy Stickney and Seena Khatter bought a brand new boat. It's a "trainer" — a Bayliner with a tower and gallons of water for ballast. If all works out for them, they will be getting a real wake board boat next year.

More great news is that Connie & Zak Hinrichs are expecting twins next March. Connie came out to the river in July and said she would see us next year.

The price of gas has certainly had an effect on the traffic at the river. There has been empty campsites and a lot less boats per point. Also boats seem to be parked at the beach more than usual. There is still the traffic jam around 10 AM and 2 PM as boat travel from Laughlin and Havasu.

Participation in our trips is light also in spite of the fact that we have kept our cost down and quality up. Hope we see you at the river before the season is over. ■

Boat Driver

UPDATE

by Gene Fulkerson

Welcome to Summer—

It has been a light summer so far this year. I would assume that the price of gas has been a contributing factor.

So far Mark Mathis and Catherine Ohl have driven for the club. Mark will be driving on the first trip in September. Paul Jackson will be the trip leader. Craig Henderson has been working nutty hours and has yet to make it to the river.

We had to cancel the August 22-24, 2008 trip since we didn't have an available boat driver. Catherine & I will be in Argentina with Patricia Ortiz and Agnes Johnson.

Jimmie Heuga Wine Maker Dinner for MS—

Just a reminder that our annual Wine Maker Dinner for the Heuga Center for MS is scheduled for Saturday, September 27, 2008. Mary Trimmins, an executive chef, will be joining me in the kitchen. We will have six courses with a wine especially chosen to match each meal. The dinner typically lasts for five hours but seems to go by in a flash. It should be another great evening. (See page 8)

Even if you can't make the dinner, we would welcome any donations. Check should be made out to "The Heuga Center for MS." ■

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Ever so often I go through my old photos and encounter pictures from Rat's trips going back to the beginning. Sometimes I wonder who these people are but more often I wonder where the heck they are.

Roger Paez—

I recently received the following email from Roger forwarded from Craig Henderson. Some of you may remember Roger— a great guy with a friendly smile and ready advise on wake boarding. He drove his red Tigé for the club a few years ago.

"I'm still working for Vought out of Dallas, except they have sent me up to Charleston, South Carolina. I've been here since December 27 of last year.

They think I will be working ship side support on the 787 line until early next year. It's a good deal Vought pays all living expenses.

Here are a few pics of my lake house that I never get to visit. It should be finished at the end of the month.

I don't think I will be living there till the end of September, depends on the job. I might get on the new stretched 787 subsystems team?"

I believe that Roger's new home is on a private ski lake in Texas.

The Griffins—

Kim Griffin sent me this email. As you will read they have been really busy.

"We were so looking forward to getting some water skiing in this summer but things seem to just get in the way.

I have been very busy with work. I have been traveling to Washington, DC about once a month since April for a week or so at a time. Since the schedule of events keeps shifting it is hard to plan free weekends.

Scott has been accommodating my schedule with getting the boys around to their events.

Conor was busy with summer school and Sean was busy with Drama camp preventing us from going in June and July. Boy Scout camp this week prevents us from going this weekend and now it looks like late August is out. We will not probably make any trips once school starts due to Football (Conor) and Soccer (Sean).

I hope we can do better next year."

Hope to see you next year. Probably won't recognize the boys. They grow up too darn fast. ■

River Trip June 13-15, 2008

A small but sweet trip. Mark Mathis was the boat driver and Gene Fulkerson led the trip. It was hot — Agnes Johnson's kind of trip. Mark and Linda came out sans kids— a first since the kids were born.

Seena Khatter and Troy Stickney brought their new boat. We were taking bets as to when they would show up at the river

(it was before noon.) They had a bit of a learning curve with both Mark and Gene giving help with anchoring, etc.

It was hot but Jane Mohr and her daughter Natasha Eklove toughed out the heat. Joining them camping on the beach was Agnes and George Kish.

Water skiing was fabulous. We wore everyone down. ■

River Trip June 27-29, 2008

Due to a couple of last minute cancelations, our numbers were reduced to seven. Zac Hinrichs came out with Troy Stickney and Seena Khatter so he was quite late getting out to the river— both Saturday & Sunday. Trudy Ferris and Simone Beaudoin got in a few early morning runs.

Catherine Ohl was the boat driver and Gene Fulkerson lead the trip cooking us some amazing meals. Another hot weekend of great skiing and boarding. ■

RIVER TRIP JULY 11-13, 2008

Paul, Carmen and Brian Jackson along with Gene Fulkerson and Catherine Ohl came out Thursday to get some errands done—Paul had to get his RV smogged and Catherine was looking for a new garage to store her boat.

The weekend started out cool. Trudy Ferris and Simone Beaudoin came out early on Friday to catch some extra ski runs and Gene's cooking.

Rob, Pam and Page Fitting arrived early on Friday with Melissa to join the Jacksons for dinner at Topac. Paul missed the campsite in the dark and ended up on the wrong beach.

Rounding out the boat count was Troy Stickney and Seena Khatter arriving will before lunch on Saturday. It was a good thing that Troy got an early run in as he badly twisted his ankle at lunch and knocked himself out of boarding for the rest of the weekend.

Eddie Aguirre brought two newbies — Scott Nordholm and Darrell White. Scott skied years ago and did a great job. Darrel and Eddie stuck to wake boarding.

Then for some reason on Sunday, they decided to try skiing. Amazingly, it didn't take long for them to be up and going. Unfortunately, Darrell smacked his knee on the ski when he fell. We heard it was cracked. We knew he was hurting when he kept it iced as I was told real men don't ice. We really thought it was just bruised. Hope he gets back on his feet soon.

It turns out that Scott is a train nut and trekked all the way to the train tracks. He got some great train photos that you can see on the Rats web site.

Water skiing was fabulous as the weather heated up on Sunday. ■

River Trip July 25-27, 2008

We always worry that July and August will be too hot to handle. Not so far. It rained Friday afternoon and cooled things down some. There was some humidity but it was still sleepable.

Carl Palczewski arrived early on Friday to join Gene Fulkerson and Catherine Ohl for some late afternoon skiing. Carl brought the grub and Gene cooked it up. Laura Priess arrived in time to join them for dinner.

The Stainbrooks arrived before dark on Friday and set up camp. Callee, almost five, talks non-stop. She may be skiing soon as she has taken the first step as dad Mark finally got her to ease into the water off the swim step. Next she needs to swim away from the boat.

Meanwhile Hunter, almost three, was more than content to play with his trucks. We understand he uses his trucks to dig up their lawn at home.

Connie, the mom, and Mark are actually pretty good wake boarders. Mark kept telling us he wasn't very good but he can get up doing a fakie and jumps pretty far. Connie is also a skier. Her ski is kind of old and she prefers boarding anyway.

Zac and Connie Hinichs came to the river via Las Vegas. I forgot what event they attended there Friday night but it was something Zac wanted to do.

Zac is a good athlete. He was doing jumps and landing fakies but more importantly he was able to complete his 360° turn. Amazing. Connie took it easy on the beach since she is currently pregnant with twins. We won't be seeing her until next year.

Tom, Shelia and Amanda Fulkerson made a very late arrival on Friday. Seems Tom's new used waverunner was reported to be fixed. Amanda was anxious to ride. Well, the PWC ran, but not very fast. So Amanda gave rides to Callee and Hunter around our beach.

Another fun weekend that was cooler than expected. ■

River Trip August 8-10, 2008

Gene Fulkerson and Catherine Ohl were the only Rats at the river until about 9 AM on Saturday.

They enjoyed champagne and a fabulous lightening show on Friday evening. This led to a bet as to whether or not it would rain. Catherine thought it was a sucker bet since they were surrounded by black clouds.

Well, it did rain, not once, but twice. The second rain was a killer. The electricity kept going off in the RV and then the wind started rocking the RV. They knew there might be a problem and went to check on the boat. It was rocking and rolling as the waves crashed over the bow.

Catherine was worried and thought they should pull the boat so Gene set the RV light on the boat so they could watch over the boat from the RV. The wind was blowing sand & water.

The skiing was excellent for most of Saturday. Paul Matsui and Jodie Cohen arrived first and went out in the boat immediately They skied and boarded until they had enough and it was time for lunch.

Troy Stickney and Seena Khatter arrived in time for lunch. To be fair, Troy works pretty hard all week and drives a ton of miles so, after a couple of hours of gambling, he takes advantage and gets a much needed sleep.

Since it was a small trip, Gene tried a number of new menu items. We had BBQ brockwurst for lunch and chicken picata for dinner. Skiing and boarding was fabulous and we wore everyone out. ■

MORE NEW AIRLINE FEES

These days, it pretty hard to keep up with all the airline changes and fees.

But what can we expect? It's hard to say, since the fees vary from airline to airline, and are changing almost weekly. TIME.com has done a survey to see who is charging for what.

With the caution that things could change even before your next trip to the airport, here's a run-down of the current status of passenger fees on nine major carriers, ranked from the friendliest to the stingiest.

Southwest

The one major airline that is bucking the trend of increasing fees, Southwest still doesn't charge for checked bags (up to two), non-alcoholic drinks, blankets or making a change in your flights. The discount airline has even launched an ad campaign to brag about that fact. Its new slogan: "Fees don't fly with us."

Virgin America

In these straitened times, a pretty good deal. Your first checked bag is free (the second is $25); drinks and pillows are too; and the fee for changing flights is a relatively nominal $75.

Delta

Among the major carriers, Delta has done the best job of holding the line on fees: no charge for the first checked bag ($25-$50 for the second), free drinks and blankets, and a change fee that hasn't increased from $100.

Jet Blue

If they don't turn up the air conditioning and force you to buy that blanket and pillow, the airline is still relatively flyer-friendly: no charge for first checked bag, free soft drinks and unlimited snacks, and a $100 change fee.

Continental

No charge for the first checked bag ($25 for the second) and it's holding the line on the other freebies, like drinks and blankets, as well as still offering free meals like sandwiches, burgers and pizza. But they recently raised their change fee from $100 to $150.

Northwest

Recently increased the fee for making flight changes to $150, to go along with a $15 charge for the first checked bag ($25 for the second). Non-alcoholic drinks and blankets are still free.

American

Also hitting you up for $150 to make flight changes, and charging $15-$25 for the first and second checked bags, with soft drinks and bedding still gratis.

United

A similar package — $15- $25 checked-bag fees, $150 to make flight changes. Plus an extra wrinkle: the highest standby fee in the business: $75 if you want to fly stand-by on a different flight the same day, a service that for years was free and now commonly costs $50 on several airlines.

USAirways

Broke new ground last week by starting to charge for all beverages: $2 for a soft drinks (and even a bottle of water), $1 for coffee or tea. Checked bags cost $15 and $25, flight changes are $150. ■

Boating Safety

It is a good idea to re-visit California Boating Safety Rules every year. A number of the rules that apply to boats and PWCs also apply to skiers or boarders being towed.

Reckless & Negligent Operations—

No person shall operate any vessel or manipulate water skis, aquaplane, or similar device in a reckless or negligent manner. The failure to exercise the degree of care necessary to prevent endangering life, limb, or property is considered reckless and negligent.

Some activities considered negligent or reckless operation in California:

- Speeding in confined, congested or restricted areas no-wake zones.
- Operating under the influence of alcohol or narcotics.
- Buzzing or wetting down other boaters or reckless operation of a ski boat.
- Allowing a passenger to ride on the gunwale, bow, transom or in any other position obviously dangerous may be considered negligent operation.
- Maneuvering towed skiers or towed devices as to pass the towline over another vessel or its skier.
- Navigating a vessel, skis or other devices between a towing boat and its tow or tows.

Additional laws that apply to personal watercraft (PWC).

- Jumping the wake of another vessel within 100 feet of the other vessel.
- Aiming a PWC at another person or vessel and swerving at the last minute to spray.

- Operating a PWC close to another vessel so that they must swerve to avoid a collision.
- Operating a PWC between sunset and sunrise, even if it is equipped with navigation lights.
- Self-circling devices on personal watercraft may not be altered if equipped with such a device.
- Personal watercraft may not operate without a properly attached emergency engine cutoff lanyard that runs from the power switch to the operator's body.

Age & Horsepower Restrictions—

A person under the age of 16 may not operate a motorboat or PWC of more than 15 horsepower unless the boat is a sailboat and does not exceed 30 feet in length. The law does allow persons aged 12-15 to operate motorboats of more than 15 horsepower, a PWC or sailboats over 30 feet if supervised by a person on board who is at least 18 years of age. ■

FITNESS

Swimming to Tone Ski Muscles—

Swimming has high aerobic value, can quickly burn calories, and can be a great cross training program for snow skiing and boarding fitness. Swimming is not going to bulk up muscle mass, but you don't need that anyway.

When done correctly, for duration and distance, swimming builds coordination. It involves an amazing number of muscle groups, all of which are involved with skiing or boarding. As with most sports, learning and perfecting a good swimming style when young, makes swimming for aerobic effectiveness a lifelong and enjoyable exercise.

Not all adult swimmers have developed a swimming technique that allows them to keep swimming for the time needed to get an effective workout without becoming out of breath. Not to worry, there are lessons, classes, and programs that can completely make over, or improve, your swimming style. They will help you effectively and efficiently tone swim your ski muscles into shape for long days on the snow. ■

KID'S KORNER

4 kids & grandkids

Swim Early, Swim Always

The earlier the better. The younger you sign your kids up for child swimming lessons, the better off they, and the better off you will be. Kids can swim at three years old. Sign them up and they'll be able to jump over their heads and swim by age four.

The longer you wait to enroll kids in swim lessons, the more afraid of the water they'll become and the larger they will be (making it harder for them and the instructor to work together, float, and relax in the water).

Pool Party!

If you have your child's friends over to swim in your pool, ask the other parents to come too. It can be a fun day for all without the added stress for you to watch everyone all the time. The more eyes the better, the safer, and the more relaxing. Here are some other tips when throwing a pool party for a child:

- Learn CPR and practice it.
- Serve cold drinks with fruit juice, not sugar.
- Require the kids to take ten minutes of every hour out of the pool and in the shade.
- Sunscreen is a one hundred percent must!

Lakes vs. Pools, Who Wins?

Want to enroll a young swimmer in swim classes? Find a group kids swim lesson at your local lake or pool. Lakes are better for younger swimmers because the kids can walk into the water from ankle deep to chest deep – always being able to put their feet on the ground. You can't do this at a pool, which are generally 3'6" deep at their shallowest.

Pools are good for kids swimming at levels 4 or higher (able to swim twenty five yards of freestyle or backstroke without aid).

Group lessons are better than private lessons and much less expensive. If your kid sees another kid swimming, he or she will be more likely to try it.

Sun Protective Swimwear

For added protection when sun block just isn't enough, try sun protective swimwear. There are shirts specifically designed for swimming and sun protection. These shirts will be much more hydrodynamic than just a simple coverup. Available in short and long sleeves, they are formfitting and unrestrictive. Also, there are bodysuits available for children and babies that protect their sensitive, fair skin. These garments are available for purchase at surf shops, swim shops, and many Internet stores.

Chemically Imbalanced

Chlorine is a chemical. You'll soon find out that your swimwear falls apart, your hair turns to straw, and your skin is dry and itchy from swimming in chlorine everyday unless you do something about it.

Try these tips:

- Rinse off in the shower after every time you swim.
- Rinse and ring your suits out and hang them to dry.
- Don't ball up your towels or they'll lose their color and their strength.
- Buy special swimmer's shampoo and use it once a week.
- Go to the salon and get a trim or treatment once every month and a half or so.
- Moisturize every single day. Don't skip a day and get moisturizer that does not have alcohol in it. ■

INDUSTRY

ski news

Horzion Flies into Mammoth—

Horizon Air announced they will offer new daily nonstop flights from Los Angeles to Mammoth Mountain for the 2008/2009 winter sports season starting December 18.

Horizon's new flight is expected to boost tourism to Mammoth by facilitating inbound travel from a wide variety of national and international airlines that fly into LAX. Similarly, travelers from Mammoth will gain an easier way to travel, with connections to dozens of destinations coast to coast and around the world served by Alaska, Horizon and other airlines at LAX.

The new daily service runs from December 18, 2008, through April 12, 2009. The one-hour-and-five-minute flight departs Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) daily at 2:20 p.m. and arrives at Mammoth Yosemite Airport (MMH) at 3:25 p.m. The return flight leaves Mammoth at 4:05 p.m. and arrives at LAX at 5:10 p.m.

Service will be via Bombardier Q400 aircraft, a 74-76-seat, high-speed, fuel-efficient twin-engine plane.

Fire Threatened Red Lodge Ski Resort—

In Montana, The Red Lodge Ski Area has been partially evacuated as a forest fire threatens the area. While the Forest Service has about 700 firefighters fighting the blaze the ski area's snowmaking guns are focused on the buildings and chairlifts to keep the flames at bay, it was just 10% contained as of August 1.

New Flight From US to Cranbrook—

Delta Air Lines begins direct jet service from Salt Lake City to Cranbrook, B.C.'s Canadian Rockies International Airport in December. The airport is just 20 minutes from Kimberley Resort and 60 minutes from Fernie.

Vail Offer New Epic Pass—

New for the 2008-09 season is Vail's EPIC Season Pass. With this pass, you will have unlimited and unrestricted access to six of the best resorts in the world: Vail, Beaver Creek, Breckenridge, Keystone, Heavenly and Arapahoe Basin. Unlimited (where you want, when you want) and Unrestricted (no blackout dates). It's enough to excite the senses and, at $579, boggle the mind. Visit www.Epicpass.com to learn more about the pass and additional benefits it offers.

Epic Passes are only available until November 15, 2008. Price subject to change.

Chile Ski Resort Closed by Volcano—

The Llaima Ski Area in Chile was closed down and evacuated in July as the volcano on which the ski area is located started spewing out lava flows up to two kilometers long just above the ski runs. The biggest fear is that the heat of the lava will melt snow causing landslides and flash floods below.

Snowbowl Wins Snowmaking Appeal—

Several Native American tribes had appealed that 2006 District Court approval for snowmaking using reclaimed water in the San Francisco Peaks, claiming that this use of water on land the tribes consider sacred violated their religious freedom.

A three-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit heard that appeal in 2007 and sided with the tribes. When reheard by the full eleven-member court, though, the judges upheld the earlier District Court ruling. The vote was 8 to 3. ■
